We deeply regret to hear that the Gov Capital will be payable at the Hoporoxe and erament has, after all, decided to put the Stamp Act in force, as the only means raising the sum necessary to pay the Military Contribution, which the Home Government demands so imperatively that longer resistmice is in value. It is a humiliating and shocking result, the blame of which rests on the Colonial Office to the greatest extent. The multitudinous reflections which arise,that the Staurb Act is to be carried out by cause it is a whim of the present Government, on the contrary, there are abundant reasome for believing that if any means offered itself by which a measure so distasteful to the community could, in the opinion of the Government, he avoided, at this last hour, when the orders have actually been issued for the organisation of the office; and the date al-CHARRHOLDERS are requested to return think fixed at which the Act is to come into meration, the obnoxious scheme would yet be abandoned.
